Boston Marathon Bombing

Always Ready, Always Alert.
Because someone is depending on you.
The investigation of the Boston Marathon bombing highlighted growing public participation in protecting communities against terrorism. Shocked by the attack, Bostonians were eager to assist authorities in running the bombers down before they could strike again. Spectators provided police with their videos of the event. They assisted in identifying the bombers. They obeyed the controversial order to stay off the streets. It was a citizen's tip that led to the capture of the second suspect.
The SUV was parked near a theater where the musical “The Lion King” was being performed. The bomb inside it had cheap-looking alarm clocks connected to a 16-ounce can filled with fireworks, which were apparently intended to detonate gas cans and set off propane tanks in a chain reaction “to cause mayhem, to create casualties,” police Commissioner Raymond Kelly said.

“Hundreds of lives” may have been saved Saturday night by the quick action of ordinary citizens and law enforcement authorities who saw the smoking SUV parked in Times Square.” -- President Barack H. Obama Citizen tips in the previous two vignettes played a critical roll.

“Citizen tips to local law enforcement are what the fight against domestic terrorism is built on. Local police are one of the best tools Uncle Sam has to thwart home-grown terrorists…the feet on the street.”

FBI Director Robert Mueller III in a 2006 speech
Are we Safer Now then 2001?

The leaders of the House and Senate Intelligence committees said Sunday December 1st, 2013, that terrorists have gained ground in the past two years and that the United States is not any safer than it was at the outset of 2011.

Several dozen suspected terrorist bomb makers, including some believed to have targeted American troops, may have mistakenly been allowed to move to the United States as war refugees, according to FBI agents investigating the remnants of roadside bombs recovered from Iraq and Afghanistan. –ABC News November 20th, 2013

What is iWATCH

An Education and Reporting Program that is endorsed by police chiefs across the U.S. which teaches people how to detect suspicious behavior and encourages them to report it.

Report Suspicious Activity or Behavior

See Something  Say Something

Always Ready. Always Alert. Because someone is depending on you.
iWATCH Began

iWATCH was first developed by the Los Angeles Police Department to encourage and enable members of the community to help protect their community by identifying and reporting suspicious behavior known to be associated with terrorist activities.

According to the San Jose Mercury News June 3 edition, when iWATCH was first revealed in October 2009, then-LAPD Police Chief William Bratton said it was "intended to be the next evolution of keeping America safe…”
iWATCH quickly spread across the United States and the concept was adopted by the federal government and law enforcement agencies across the country. The United States Army was no exception.

This nationwide campaign creates partnerships between military and civilian organizations. Particularly in information sharing. Such information or cooperation may reveal a piece of the puzzle that thwarts a terrorist plot.

Consequently, iWatch empowers Soldiers, civilian employees, contractors, their family members, as well as civilian visitors with protecting places where they live, work and play.
iWATCH program is a modern, 21st Century version of neighborhood watch designed to enable members of the public to help protect their communities by identifying and reporting suspicious behavior that is known to be associated with terrorist activities.

The primary focus of iWATCH is to integrate terrorism prevention and suspicious activity reporting.
The iWATCH program is designed to be easily adopted by agencies nationwide.

The marketing materials, which include the iWATCH brand, a community training video, Public Service Announcements (PSAs), brochures and posters, are available for any organization or community, and they can create an iconic image that can become the umbrella program for the nation.

Trust Your Instincts

We rely on our senses every day of our lives. If a behavior or activity makes you feel uncomfortable, report it!

Here are some examples of suspicious activities reported by concerned individuals that saved lives:

A video store clerk saw anti-American material on a DVD he was asked to copy. Police captured and arrested individuals planning an attack against a military installation.

If it doesn’t LOOK right, report it!

A grandmother smelled bad odors from the neighboring apartment and noticed that the empty apartment was frequented by various people. Police discovered a poison gas factory.

If it doesn’t SMELL right, report it!

Residents were concerned with a person’s threats of violence. Police captured and arrested a group planning a subway attack.

If it doesn’t SOUND right, report it!

What Should I Report?

Give as many details as you can. Here is a checklist to help you:

1. The date and time.

3. What you witnessed.
4. A description of who was involved
   - Male or female?
   - Height?
   - Build?
   - Hair color, skin color, age?
   - English speaking or another language?
5. Was there a car? Note the license plate number.
6. Have you seen this activity in your neighborhood before?

What is iWATCH ARMY?

iWATCH, I REPORT, KEEP US SAFE (iWATCH ARMY) is a community program to help your neighborhood stay safe from terrorist activities.

You and your fellow Army community members can report behaviors and activities that make you feel uncomfortable and do not look right (suspicious behaviors).

iWATCH ARMY is a program and partnership between your community and your local law enforcement.

iWATCH ARMY asks you to report behaviors and activities that are unusual or seem out of the ordinary.

Why Report These Behaviors and Activities?

It is your awareness reported to local law enforcement that can help predict and prevent attacks before they happen.

Since 9-11, we can and must work together to prevent future attacks.

It is always better to report suspicious behaviors than to refrain from doing so.

The iWATCH ARMY program is about behaviors and activities, not individuals.

What Activities Do I Report?

Here are examples of behaviors and activities to report:

- People drawing or entering important buildings.
- Strangers asking questions about security forces or security procedures.
- A briefcase, suitcase, backpack or package left behind.
- Cars or trucks left in No Parking zones in front of important buildings.
- Intruders found in secure areas.
- A person wearing clothes that are too big and bulky and/or too hot for the weather.
- Chemical smells or fumes that worry you.
- Questions about sensitive information such as building blueprints, security plans or VIP travel schedules without a right or need to know.
- Purchasing supplies or equipment that can be used to make bombs or weapons or purchasing uniforms without having the proper credentials.

Example Situations

"There’s a chemical smell coming from my neighbor’s apartment."

"I saw someone taking measurements. I don’t want them to get them in trouble. What should I do?"

(This activity may be repeated at other locations and you may be reporting one piece of the puzzle.)

"Maybe someone just forgot their briefcase on the bus."

(Do not check it yourself. It may be a test.)

"I saw someone watching our offices, and the next day my co-worker was asked a lot of questions about our building by someone else."

(Do not check it yourself. It may be a test.)
